

Hurricane Alert All Along the Eastern Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A hurricane watch was ordered today for south eastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island as a storm with winds of 125 miles an hour moved almost due north in the Atlantic.

At 11 a.m. EST today, Hurricane Daisy was 110 miles south-east of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

The Weather Bureau calls a hurricane watch when a storm constitutes a possible threat. Persons in the watch area can continue their normal routines but are advised to keep in touch with advisories and be ready to take precautions if necessary.

Gale warnings were raised at 11 a.m. from Provincetown, Mass., south to Morehead City, N.C. Winds were about two feet higher than normal along the outer banks of the North Carolina coast.

The Weather Bureau expected the storm to move almost straight north this afternoon, passing east of Cape Hatteras. A turn to the north this afternoon, passing east of the northeast should begin tonight or early Friday, the Weather Bureau said.

Asked whether the predicted northeast turn would take Daisy away from New England, the chief storm forecaster, Gordon Dun, said it all depends on how close she gets before she turns.

At the moment, it looks like it can easily give Cape Cod and southeastern Massachusetts a fairly good brushing. It is too early to know how close it will come.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Winds freshened along the North Carolina coast today and tides rose 1 1/2 feet above normal as Hurricane Daisy lashed the Atlantic 240 miles southeast of Wilmington.

Gale warnings flew from Morehead City, N.C., to Cape Henry, Va., and small craft from South Carolina north to New Jersey.

Man Learns of Sons Death, Also Dies

WARREN, Ark. (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow in Hickory Springs Baptist Church for C. C. Frazer, 74, who died Tuesday of a heart attack suffered on learning of the death of his son.

Frazer collapsed Sunday when told that W. T. Frazer had been killed in a railroad accident near Homer, La.

Survivors include his widow.

Industrial Group Renews Drive to Sell Stock

A renewed campaign to sell $58,000 in stock in the Hempstead County Industrial Foundation was being readied here today. This amount is necessary to reach the original goal of $250,000.

President James H. Pilkinton announced that a committee of five headed by Chairman Ray Turner and composed of Henry Scamman, Paul McClellan, Ralph Lehman, George Frazier and Leonard Ellis, had met recently and made plans to revive the campaign.

With the location of the new $300,000 Cameron Feed Mill company already announced for Hope — through efforts of the chamber of commerce and the industrial group — and with the possibility of obtaining a related industry, it is vital that the campaign goal be reached in a hurry.

Chairman Turner said the names of 138 business firms, individuals and real estate owners, had been studied and would be called upon to purchase stock in the industrial foundation at a very early date. None of the 138 have pledged anything.

Mr. Turner also appealed to the general public to buy stock in the foundation and further announced that stock certificates can be issued over-the-counter at the chamber of commerce office at a minimum of $5 per share.

Campaign chairman of various business categories who worked in the original drive and raised $192,000 will meet Friday night at the chamber of commerce office and make plans to finish their work.

This group will consist of chairmen of: Motels and Restaurants; Taxi Cabs and Dairies; Cleaners and Laundries; Department Stores; Beauty and Barber Shops; Seed, Feed, Florists and Livestock Sales.

Chairman of other business groups will hold a series of meetings next week and plan strategy to complete their original task by contacting individuals and firms who were missed in the original canvass.

"It is vital that we raise the additional $58,000 and time may be an important factor," said Mr. Turner.

In the meantime, stock is on sale at the chamber of commerce office and certificates can be issued quickly by Secretary-Treasurer B. N. Holt.

Town's Only Doctor Goes Berserk

SILVERTON, Colo. (AP)—The only doctor in this mountain town of 1,400 persons went berserk Wednesday and was wounded and captured after firing random shots at a group of children and two friends.

Dr. Charles O. Spencer, about 35, collapsed with a shattered rifle in his hands as officers and volunteers seized him.

His capture ended an afternoon flurry in which he fired at least eight shots. No one was hit. Dr. Spencer suffered metal splinters in the face and a bullet crease on his right leg.

He was taken to La Plata County Jail. No charges were filed.

The battle ended outside the home of Roy Green when a friend of Green's, mechanic George Bingel, fired a single shot at the doctor. The bullet struck the barrel of Dr. Spencer's rifle, shattering it. The doctor fired one wild shot from the broken rifle and collapsed in the yard of the home.

Across the street is the two-story hospital where he has served as the town's only doctor for the past year. Chief of Police Milton Grey said Dr. Spencer had gained immense popularity since arriving here in the midst of last year's Asian flu epidemic.

The doctor, his wife and their two young sons made their home at the hospital.

The police chief said Dr. Spencer began his foray at mid-afternoon at a tavern and filling station three miles north of here, where he fired four shots for no apparent reason.

Later, he fired three shots at a group of children across the street from the hospital.

Will Separate Siamese Twins

LONDON (AP)—Surgeons will attempt soon to separate Siamese twin boys born to a London mother nearly four months ago. The twins, two of triplets, are joined at the top of the head.

The third boy is a normal child and is home with his parents. The joined babies are in a special cot in a London hospital.

The parents of the Siamese twins were identified publicly for the first time as Reginald Thackeray, 39, a bank manager; and his wife, Kathleen, 35.

Date of the operation will be depend on when the connecting tissue is in a condition that will involve minimum risk to the babies.

Facts About Lawyers in L. R. Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here are thumbnail sketches of the opposing lawyers arguing before the Supreme Court today in the Little Rock, Ark., school segregation case.

Thurgood Marshall, 50—Baltimore-born Negro, $15,000-a-year special counsel to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. High-spirited, poker-playing. Widely respected among fellow lawyers for skill in presenting civil rights arguments — he's won 12 out of 14 cases before the Supreme Court. Son, Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said Marshall seems to wield an "almost occult power" over most members of the court. It was Marshall who presented NAACP's original case against school segregation. The high court agreed with Marshall.

Richard C. Butler, 48—Arkansas born and bred, tall, gray-haired, slow-spoken attorney for the Little Rock school board. He was a World War II Army officer. Assisting him is 27-year-old John H. Haley, a native of Hot Springs, Ark., who once edited the Arkansas Law Review.

J. Lee Rankin, 57—Low-pressure, Nebraska lawyer-rancher with interest ranging from riding to race culture. As U.S. solicitor general (since Aug. 15, 1956) he presents the government's point of view as what lawyers call "a friend of the court." Middle-aged, spectacled Rankin, as an assistant attorney general, similarly argued for the federal government in proceedings which led to the May 17, 1954, Supreme Court decision declaring public school segregation unconstitutional.

Governor's Day at Jonesboro

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Officials of Arkansas State College here designated Sept. 27 "Governor's Day" at the college.

Gov. Orval Faubus, members of the Arkansas Legislature and Louisiana Gov. Earl Long have been invited to the day-long series of events, climaxed by a night football game between State and Louisiana teams.

Arkansas State plans to ask the 1958 Legislature to grant it university status.

Supreme Court Urged by Government Not to Delay De-segregation

Bill to Close Public Schools Goes to Faubus

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The House today pushed through the Senate version of Gov. Orval Faubus' anti-integration package.

Then the lower chamber passed over considerable opposition a Senate bill to require loyalty oaths from public school teachers and college instructors.

On the integration measures, the pattern was the same as that of yesterday when the House passed its own identical bills.

There were a total of three votes against the entire six bills—one against a bill to empower Faubus to close Central High School or any other integrated school, and two against a bill to permit a student to carry with him state aid from one school to another.

The other four Faubus bills were passed unanimously.

Rep. Ray Smith Jr. of Garland County cast the sole vote against the school closing bill, the crux of the governor's program, and Reps. Jack Oakes of Woodruff and Clyde Kinslow of Pope voted against the aid transfer bill. They had voted similarly on the House bills yesterday.

The House also concurred in technical administration, approved amendments which the Senate had attached to a few of the House integration bills.

This cleared the way for the bills to go to the governor for the formality of signing and making them law.

The loyalty oath bill is the work of Sen. Arlie Gregory of North Little Rock, who had failed to get similar bills adopted in the past.

It would require statements from public school and college personnel as to their affiliations with all organizations within the past five years.

Contracts for employment of persons not signing such statements would be void and penalties of up to $10,000, as well as forfeiture of teaching licenses, would be provided for false affidavits.

The House vote for the bill was 62-27. This was by far the largest negative vote against any bill which has been submitted at the current special session. The bill had passed the Senate 26-7.

Urging adoption of the Gregory bill, Rep. Paul Van Dalsen of Perry County directed some remarks against the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which also is the obvious target of a number of other measures at the session.

Rep. Hardy Croxon of Benton County spoke briefly against the bill and Reps. Charles Stewart of Washington County said he could not favor it because it was restricted to teachers and did not cover all public officials and employees.

The House first rejected an emergency clause through failure to get the necessary two-thirds majority or 67 votes but on reconsideration adopted the clause. An emergency clause means that the bill will become effective immediately upon signing by the governor.

And Van Dalsen told his colleagues that Faubus had indicated he would not oppose the measure.

Earlier, the House showed no intention of voting on the measure.

Police Investigate Two Accidents Here

Two accidents were reported by City Police, one occurring at 7:40 a.m. today in front of the Shannon Plant. Officers said William J. Harris, Emmet St. 1, was backing an auto away from the curb and collided with another driven by Dorothy Lee Plumley.

Fender, door and bumper damage resulted to the Plumley auto, according to officer Milam. Harris was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Autos driven by Ollis Peoples and J. W. Cunningham collided yesterday at 6th and Elm with minor damage to Peoples auto. No charges were filed by investigating officers Shirley and Rothwell.

Sen. Fulbright Urges Court to Delay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) today asked U.S. Supreme Court to uphold a 2 1/2-year delay in racial integration of Central High School at Little Rock, Ark.

The senator made the request in a brief filed as a friend of the court as the high tribunal gathered for a showdown hearing on the Little Rock racial situation.

Fulbright told the court he sought its indulgence because he was "deeply troubled for the future peace and happiness of the people of Arkansas and of this nation, of all creeds and races."

The senator, a former professor of constitutional law at George Washington University and the University of Arkansas, said the people of Arkansas are law abiding, abhor anarchy and disorder and until last year's school violence had not been troubled by any racial disorders for 30 years.

Fulbright suggested the problem of school integration in Arkansas "is more likely—bearing in mind that flesh and blood are weak and frail—to yield to the slow conversion of the human heart than to remedies of a more urgent nature."

He urged the court to uphold the decision of U.S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope, Ark., who in June granted the 2 1/2-year delay. The Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overruled Lemley but granted a 90-day stay of its order to permit an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Technically, Rankin's no-delay brief, filed a few hours before the court opening, was addressed to the specific situation at Little Rock. But it contained a "general do-it-now" argument which could apply in any situation where public opposition to desegregation is the basis for efforts to hold off immediate mingling of the races in classrooms.

Eisenhower, in speaking of a slower approach Wednesday, added that he believed the Justice Department brief—the one filed today by Rankin—would not diverge greatly from his own views.

The two barriers the NAACP wants knocked down are: The order by the U.S. District Court in Little Rock permitting a 2 1/2-year delay in integration; and a ruling by the Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis staying its order which would void the 2 1/2-year delay. The stay by the Circuit Court was granted pending a decision by the Supreme Court.

The government's brief, filed by Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin, said the original decision of the Circuit Court knocking out the 2 1/2-year delay was clearly correct.

"The government brief filed in response to an invitation from the Supreme Court for the Justice Department to take part in the case said the high court has full power to grant the relief asked by the NAACP. It said further that such relief should be granted.

Stressing that the only purpose of the stay granted by the Court of Appeals was to give the high court an opportunity to consider the ruling, the government urged that the whole Little Rock litigation be decided in one bundle.

Newsboys Leave Yellowstone Behind in Trek to Denver and Other Rocky Mountain Sights

By A. H. WASHBURN
Editor & Publisher

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 25 — Our newsboys safari left Yellowstone National Park just before noon Sunday, stopped Sunday night at Rock Springs, Wyoming, and came on to Denver for the stay tonight (Monday).

Yellowstone gave us an exciting send-off. During Saturday night, C. M. (Pop) Rogers Jr., Star circulation manager, and I were sleeping in the station wagon when Pop heard a suspicious sound between the wagon and the tent where our five newsboys were: John Whitton, Jimmy McQuire, Denny Halford, Leon Prince and Edward O'Steen. Pop got up to investigate, but I refused to stir confident in the security of a hundred house-trails per jammed into Old Faithful Reservation and literally thousands of people in the nearby lodges and cabins.

Then Pop yelled, "Bear!" — and the boys piling out of their tent ran smack into a full-grown black bear. But the bear, more frightened than the boys, left off sniffing for food and took to his heels.

The newsboys came back to their tent panting and boasting to the two of us. "We chased that bear right up the mountain," Pop waved off the boast and opined, "It's a good thing that bear didn't look back just once or there would have been some new holes in the company tent!"

So we left Yellowstone Sunday noon and drove leisurely southward along the magnificent Grand Teton mountains to Jackson Hole for a late luncheon. Jackson was in this isolated and beautiful valley that Allen Lead made "Shane," perhaps the most beautiful film in motion picture history.

Mexican Troops Patrol University

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The government posted more troops around the University of Mexico campus today and threatened to evict students after they rejected President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines' request to end their war on the city bus system.

Students have barricaded themselves in "University City" on the southern edge of the capital. They are protesting against a recent boost in bus fares.

The protest, part of a wave of labor unrest and wildcat strikes throughout Mexico, was caused by deteriorating bus service in Mexico City.

were cautioned to seek protection. Unsettling winds of 12 to 15 miles per hour, moved toward the north northeast at an 18-mile-an-hour clip. Conditions are favorable for a more northeasterly turn late today; forecasters said. "While this path would not threaten the coast north of Hope, the present warning area, all interests northward to the New Jersey coast should keep informed of the latest advisories, until advisories away from land are definitely established," the Weather Bureau said.

Crops Need Rain in Some Areas

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Crops in some northeast Arkansas counties need additional moisture, the radio state Crop Reporting Service said today. The agency's weekly survey said the outlook for late cotton is uncertain although the crop is making normal progress. Failing in the delta areas has been better than predicted.

cial session today to grapple once more with racial segregation — a grave, trouble-breeding issue still besetting the South at the opening of another school year.

For only the fifth time in nearly 40 years, members of the highest court broke off of summer vacations to hold a special term. Their specific problem is whether to approve or reject a delay in readmitting Negroes to Central High School in Little Rock, Ark. Lower courts have handed down conflicting opinions.

Thurgood Marshall, Negro special counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, will argue for immediate admittance. Atty. Richard C. Butler and his assistant John H. Haley of Little Rock will argue for the delay.

There was no indication when the Supreme Court will act, but presumably it will be soon.

Just a year ago, Central High was the scene of anti-integration riots. Federal troops were used to enforce court-ordered integration. Now, a cloud of crisis again hangs over Little Rock.

This is the first case the Supreme Court has accepted that gives it the opportunity to clarify what it meant when, in May 1955, it ordered desegregation of schools "with all deliberate speed."

Technically what is before the court now is a double-barreled petition filed by the NAACP.

It asks the Supreme Court to set aside an order of U.S. Dist. Judge Harvey L. Lemley of Hope, Ark. This was the original order for a 21-year halt to integration at Central High.

The NAACP petition also asks the court to set aside the action of the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis in withholding application of its ruling reversing Judge Lemley's order.

The Circuit Court stayed the reversal until the Supreme Court could act on an appeal of the ruling by the Little Rock School board. The appeal has not yet been filed.

The decision on the NAACP petition might provide a legal shortcut that would make an appeal and action on one unnecessary.

Bill to Close position when a bill to provide for a recall of school board members came to a vote.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Senate and House completed action before noon today on Gov. Orval Faubus' 6-bill plan to combat forcible integration in the state's public schools.

Key bill in the package was one which would empower the governor to close schools under certain conditions.

The Legislature kept an eye on the U.S. Supreme Court—already in a special integration session in Washington.

Final passage of the Faubus plan was a certainty even before the Legislature's members gathered Tuesday.

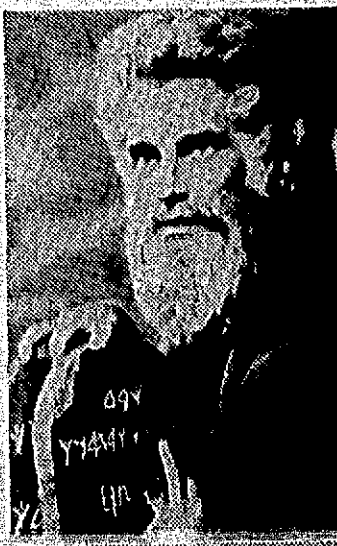

Only one voice rose to protest parts of the key school-closing bill Wednesday. And the dissenter, Rep. Ray S. Smith Jr., 33, a Hot Springs attorney, said he favored the bill's objectives but did not want to give some future governor the sweeping power in the measure.

Chapter XXVII

People like Hodson were one of humanity's irritants, but they existed and there was nothing to do but accept them. Morrison had never been able to decide whether they were people that wanted too much and hadn't been able to accept less, or people that didn't want anything and were going to do their best to see that no one else had anything either.

He went back downstairs. He wanted to get to work, but there was a problem. He didn't know where to start.

Morrison had just seated himself at his desk when the desk officer motioned to him. He got up reluctantly and walked over to him.

"We've got another confession coming in. You want to see him?"

He sighed. It had been a tough unrewarding time and the prospect of listening to another psycho beat about how he had committed the murder wasn't pleasant.

"Yeah," he said, in a resigned tone, "send him over. A fairy tale is just what I need."

He went back to his desk to wait, and in a few minutes they brought in a well-dressed man of about 50. He looked perfectly rational, though a little irritated.

"They were usually upset when the police reaction to their confession didn't have the proper degree of horror."

"Won't you sit down?" Morrison said to the man who stood there glaring at him.

"Well, it's about time someone listened to me," he snapped. "I came here of my own free will to give myself up, and not only am I not arrested, I can't find anyone courteous enough to listen to me."

"Just sit down, sir," Morrison answered calmly, "and tell me your name and address."

"My name is Wilmot Brand, and I've already given this information to the men out there."

"Yes sir, but I'd like to have it for my records, so if you don't mind repeating it—"

"That's the trouble with the whole world. Everyone repeats what everyone else has already done. It takes time that might be used for things that are really necessary. Besides, you should try to save paper. Every sheet of paper you use is paid for by the taxpayers, but you don't take that into consideration at all. One record of a name and address is sufficient."

After expressing his viewpoint, Mr. Brand seemed to feel better, so he sat down.

"I'll keep what you said in mind. Now if you'll give me your name and address."

"Wilmot Brand. Actually, it's Wilmot K. Brand, but the K. stands for Kincaid and I seldom use it. I could never understand why I was named Kincaid. It sounds like a railroad line."

"Yes, Mr. Brand. Now where do you live?"

"At the Crown Hotel, Room 304. I've waited there for almost 11 years."

Morrison was well aware that the man had confessed to a wide assortment of crimes over a period of years. He had been in and out of the county hospital several times, but apparently all that was wrong with him was loneliness, and every once in a while he confessed to something to get a little attention.

He was comfortably fixed, financially, and had two sons, both of whom had families, but it seemed that the only time they remembered that they had a father was when they needed money.

"I think it was last March that you came in and confessed to setting the Mayers' Picking Plant on fire. Don't you remember?"

"You are quite mistaken," the man assured him. "I am not an arsonist. I am a murderer."

There was no mistaking the sincerity in his voice.

Morrison settled back in his chair.

"All right. You say you killed the boy. Why?"

"It was something I couldn't help. A feeling came over me, and I had to kill him."

"Now that he had an audience, Brand was enjoying himself thoroughly."

"What were you doing out in Parkdale?"

"I get a liresome sitting in a hotel room, so I went for a bus ride."

"The bus line is at least four blocks from where Bryce was killed. What was your purpose in being in those woods?"

Brand hesitated for a moment, then said, "I went for a walk. It was a nice cool evening, so I went for a walk."

"You took a bus ride, went for a walk, then something came over you and you shot a boy you had never seen before?"

He smiled slyly. "You're trying to trick me. I strangled him, and you know it. I was just walking alone, and there he was. I don't know what made me do it, but I put my hands around his neck and squeezed and squeezed."

It was an old dodge and Morrison hadn't expected it to work. "You want me to lock you up?"

"I expect you as an officer of the law to do your duty. I committed murder, so I must be locked up. The public must be protected."

He would have used the same manner of speaking if he had LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus yesterday reappointed Rosa Lee Gilmore of Benton to the Advisory Hospital Council. She is one of 18 members of the council, which works with the state Health Department in allocating federal funds to aid in hospital construction.

Nixon Taking Big Step to Nomination

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon apparently has dropped a 1960 presidential anchor to windward in the troubled sea of New York politics.

Nixon's activity in urging Republican Rep. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester into the race for the Senate was interpreted here as an effort directed in part at keeping the vice president's presidential aspirations afloat in a critical area.

Keating had been reluctant to gamble an almost sure House seat by entering the contest for the post being vacated by GOP Sen. Irving Ives. But he agreed to make the Senate race after Nixon called him and said both Nixon and President Eisenhower thought he would be a fine nominee.

Shortly afterward, Keating was nominated by the Republican state convention meeting in Rochester.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told reporters Nixon had informed him of receiving a telephone call from Nelson Rockefeller, GOP nominee for New York governor, saying that Rockefeller and others were strongly urging Keating to run for the Senate.

Hagerty said Nixon talked personally to Eisenhower and then relayed to Keating the word that "both the President and himself thought that Mr. Keating would be a fine candidate, and the vice president urged Mr. Keating not to decline the nomination should the opportunity be presented by the Republican State Convention."

This indirectly breached Eisenhower's self-imposed rule against intervening in the choice of party nominees.

But it provided Nixon with a friendly political associate on a

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Elmer H. Cook, president of Fort Smith Junior College since its inception 30 years ago, retired yesterday and has been succeeded by E. P. Vines, former dean of the school. Cook will become president emeritus.

Pine Bluff Star Switches to UA

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Brent Shinnell, star high school end with the Pine Bluff Zephyrs last football season, said today he would pass up an athletic scholarship at Louisiana State University and enroll at the University of Arkansas.

Shinnell, a 6-foot-2, 180-pounder, was an outstanding performer in the recent Arkansas high school all-star football game in Little Rock. He previously had signed a letter of intent with LSU.

He is the second former Zephyr star to switch to the Razorbacks in the past 10 days.

Bubba Ferguson, a Pine Bluff quarterback two seasons ago, has announced that he will transfer from Vanderbilt University to Arkansas. Ferguson was the starting quarterback on Vanderbilt's successful freshman team last season.

Warns Soviet Sub to Soon Carry Missiles

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of experts warned today that by the early 1960s missile-firing Soviet submarines will be capable of devastating American cities.

"A massive attack with such weapons could level our entire urban society," said the Undersecretary of Defense, the National Security Council as part of the nation's overall strategic deterrent budget.

3. There should be a significant increase in the rate and scale of building attack submarines—the ones that track down enemy subs. The report described as too small a Navy goal of some 75 attack submarines by 1970.

4. The Navy's research and development budget for undersea warfare should be doubled, with substantial increases year by year. There should also be a substantial increase in the Navy's budget for basic research.

6. Greater use should be made of universities, private research centers and industry for grappling with undersea warfare problems.

Giants Finally Squash That Milwaukee Hex

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants finally have squashed Milwaukee's hex, hitting the law of averages for a double jackpot behind the hitless relief pitching of Al Worthington.

The Giants had lost eight in a row to the Braves and Worthington had beaten them only twice in 15 decisions before the big right-hander backed up his almost perfect three-inning job on the mound with a 12th-inning single that led to a 3-2 victory Wednesday night.

That clipped the Braves' National League lead to seven games over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who topped 18 hits and beat St. Louis 14-1. Cincinnati defeated Los Angeles 8-7 and the Chicago Cubs

Harris Goes Good at First for Tigers

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Stuart, Bob Skinner and Bob Porterfield batted in the Pirates' 67th victory - their best total since winning 71 in 1949. Porterfield was forced off the mound by a knee injury in the fourth inning - leaving the victory to reliever Vern Law (10-11), who pitched one-hit shutout ball. Skinner and Thomas, who doubled with the bases loaded in a five-run sixth, each drove in three runs for the Bucs. Rookie Nels Chilton (10-1) lost it.

Pete Whisenant's pinch-hit grand-slam home run, his first in the majors, gave the Reds a 7-2 lead in the fifth inning and they wrapped it up on a bases-loaded walk by ex-mate Johnny Klippstein in the seventh. Joe Nuxhall (11-9) won it with relief help. Carl Erskine (4-4) lost it in relief.

The Cubs broke a 2-2 tie with double-header split at Boston. He had a two-run homer and a two-run double as they won the nightcap 7-2, and strangled home both Detroit runs in a 3-2 afternoon-decider.

Kansas City ripped New York 11-7, reducing the pennant bound Yankees' bulge to 1 1/2 games over the White Sox, who won 2-1 at Washington. Cleveland defeated Philadelphia 5-2.

The A's scored seven unearned runs in the first off Johnny Kuehn (8-7), who gave up six hits after Bobby Richardson's two-out error. Tom Garman (4-4) won it in relief for the A's who tagged four pitchers for 18 hits. Yogi Berra hit his 20th homer - his 10th consecutive year of 20 or more - and Mickey Mantle socked his 37th for five Yankee runs.

Southern Billy Pierce won his fifth straight and 15th of the year with a four-hitter for the White Sox, giving up a seventh-inning home run to Norm Zaichin. Nellie Fox's punt and doubles by Billy Goodman and Don Mueller bagged it in the fourth against Camilo Pascual (7-9).

The Indians had 15 hits, but Cal McLish needed ninth-inning relief for his 14th victory. Don Mossi came on with a run in the bases loaded and none out. He gave up an RBI single to Bob Boyd, then fanned Gene Woodling and Bob Niemann and got Joe Chisberg on a grounder. Connie Johnson (6-8) lost it.

Man Convicted of 2nd Degree Murder

CLINTON, Ark. (AP)—L. T. McClain Jr., 29, of Shirley, was convicted of second degree murder here yesterday and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

A Van Buren Circuit Court jury convicted McClain of fatally shooting Philip Sifton, 35, who lived near Shirley, last July 16.

N. J. Henley of Marshall, McClain's attorney, waived the status quo waiting time for sentence to be read.

Circuit Judge Woody Murray of Harrison imposed the sentence.

McClain testified yesterday that he shot Sifton in self-defense after Sifton had tried to run him down with a car. McClain said the incident happened after a fight with Sifton the day before.

He said he jumped behind a tree on a roadside to escape Sifton's motorized assault and told the man to go away. McClain said Sifton stopped his car and "stared at me." He said he feared Sifton was going to kill him and that he fired a rifle.

Prosecutor Don Stephens did not request the death penalty in the case.

Would Bolster Resources of World Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today proposed bolstering the resources of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund to help promote the economic growth of the free world.

Eisenhower directed Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson to propose the moves at the annual meeting of the two groups next month in New Delhi, India.

He also suggested a study of the possibility of creating an international development association.

Eisenhower did not specify size for the increases in the capitalization of the two international institutions. Secretary Anderson told a news conference this would have to be worked out with the other 65 member nations of the two institutions in New Delhi.

The World Bank and the IMF now have a total capitalization in excess of eight billion dollars.

They were created immediately following World War II in connection with the United Nations. The bank makes loans for economic development while the fund assist in the stabilization of currencies.

Challenging Suits to Be Heard Sept. 22

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Suits challenging five general election ballot proposals were set for hearing Sept. 22 by the Arkansas Supreme Court yesterday.

And a mass rally to discuss three of the cases drew 2,000 persons at El Dorado last night.

The court instructed attorneys for persons challenging validity of the proposals or their titles to file briefs by Sept. 15.

A motion by T. J. Gentry, former state attorney general, to hear oral arguments before Sept. 22 was rejected. Gentry represents two clients challenging the title of the proposed States Rights Amendment.

The other measures being contested include the proposed Train Crews Amendment, Safety Laws Amendment, Freedom to Hire Amendment and an initiative act to repeal the state's old full crews law on train operation.

The later proposals were discussed at the El Dorado rally by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The rally, billed as "Impartial," was held in El Dorado's Memorial Stadium.

Earl Griffin, of the El Dorado Building and Construction Trades Council, acted as master of ceremonies.

Sponsors called the meeting an effort to "inform the public of the true meaning" of action by the railroads in a legal feud with the union.

The dispute involves moves by five Arkansas railroads to repeal the "Full Crews Law" and a union action to replace the law with their proposed Trainmen Crew Amendment. The union is also proposing a Safety Law Amendment concerning safeguards at railroad crossings.

Both factions seek to have their

Imboden Dedicates New High School

IMBODEN, Ark. (AP) — Imboden's new $70,000 fireproof high school will be dedicated Sept. 5, three days before fall classes start.

The building, of contemporary design, replaces one which burned last November.

Proposals placed on the November general ballot and both have filed suits in state Supreme Court to keep each other's proposals off the ballot.

Railroads involved are the Missouri Pacific, Frisco, Rock Island, St. Louis and Southwestern and Kansas City Southern.

Navy Starts Grid Practice Today

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Navy's Cotton Bowl champions begin football practice today riddled by graduation losses but deep in play for potential for another go team.

Seven starting posts will have to be refilled by Coach Eddie E. Edey and his aides before the Middies open their nine-game season here Sept. 27 against William & Mary.

They'll rebuild around Bob Reissner, the smashing tackle from Rockville Centre, N. Y.; George Fritzinger, guard from Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; center Milan Monellovich of Stuebenville, Ohio; and

Over 1,000 Seek U. S. Amateur Title

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 1,000 golfers today went after berths in the 58th U. S. Amateur Golf Championship at various qualifying sites around the country.

Almost the entire 200 spots for the match play elimination at San Francisco's Olympic Country Club Sept. 3-13 will be decided. Honolulu held its test over the week-end, Seattle filled six spots Monday and Chicago will conclude qualifying Wednesday with 99 vying for 11 openings.
